Heather Coll is a Senior International Affairs Specialist in the International Affairs Office of the Under Secretary (NOAA OIA). This office advises the Under Secretary and other NOAA leadership on international policy issues. The office also represents NOAA in international negotiations, provides coordination for NOAA’s international engagement across line offices, and strengthens relationships with foreign partners. Portfolios in the office are divided into global regions – Heather’s work focuses on Southeast Asia and China. She is the lead coordinator for NOAA participation in the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), and the Southeast Asia Maritime Partnership (SAMP). Heather has a M.S. in marine biology and a J.D., with D.C. and Florida Bar memberships.

Pat Moran has served as a Foreign Affairs Specialist for the U.S. National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) for over 20 years and has represented the United States on fisheries and oceans issues in a broad range global, regional and bilateral fora. He is currently the Chair of the APEC Ocean and Fisheries Working Group (OFWG) and serves as a Senior Policy Advisor to U.S. delegations to the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Organization and the International Pacific Halibut Commission. He also coordinates U.S. bilateral fisheries consultations with Canada, Chile and Norway, and serves as the NMFS lead on Food Security issues. He also has extensive experience representing the United States in the United Nations and has spent a great deal of his career working on issues associated with implementation of the UN Fish Stocks Agreement in regional fisheries management organizations. Mr. Moran holds an undergraduate degree in International Relations and a Master’s Degree in Marine Affairs.
